PREFATORY NOTE.

THIS record was begun in 1886 by the Rev. M. E. Ketcham (1881), who worked very earnestly in collecting material. The work was continued by him until 1888, when an increase of pastoral duties prevented his completion of the undertaking. Not all of the records of the graduates up to that time were included.

In 1894 the entire work came into my hands. The manuscript has been entirely rewritten, and much of it verified from the records, and the whole completed. At first it was not the intention to include the non-graduates. Not even a list of their addresses was in existence. While their records are not complete, they will at least serve as a contribution to future completeness.

There are a few incomplete records among the regular graduates. This is in most instances the result of non-compliance with the request to fill the blank sent. In some cases the fault has been remedied by the use of seminary records, the general minutes, and notices which have appeared in the Christian Advocate. Additions and corrections will be gladly welcomed.

In reply to the question, What was your father's occupation? over 120 replied minister, 140 farmer, over 100 business men. In the rest of the 500 replying to the question the answers were scattered among the trades and professions.
